Day 2 – FD Peninsula Valdes Tour

The tour leaves from Puerto Madryn northeast, to Carlos Ameghino's Interpretative Bureau, where it is possible to learn part of the history, the fauna and sea birds of this area. Then, we will continue to Caleta Valdes or Punta Norte, a continental sea elephants reserve. During the journey we will see the natural inhabitants of the Peninsula Valdes: ñandu (American ostrich), guanaco, mara (Patagonian hare), piche (armadillo), fox, shunk, eagle, Patagonian owl, etc. Later we will arrive to Puerto Piramide, a beautiful town on the New Gulf with crystalline waters, a paradise for divers and naturalists. During Southern Right Whale's season, it is possible to take the whale-watching tour (optional) in modern embarkations. This small town has some restaurants which offer international menu and seafood, where we will have free time to take lunch (not included). Next, we will go to Punta Piramide, a place where the sea wolves of one hair are found from December to March. Afterwards we will return to Puerto Madryn, and watch the only aluminum factory in the country -ALUAR-, the fishing industrial park and the deep waters wharf "Almirante Storni", where tourist ships and international ones dock.
WHALES SEASON: from Mid July to Mid December

Day 3 – FD Punta Tombo Tour

This tour leaves from Puerto Madryn southwards. It goes through the Patagonian plateau until the spot known as "Dos Pozos". Here it can be still seen a stone building, which was one the first telegraph's office at the beginning of the 20th century. In this area, the proximity to sea makes the vegetation to be different to the one watched on the plateau. On the way, it is possible to see the wide diversity of typical Patagonian fauna such as ñandues (American ostrich), guanacos, Patagonian hares (maras,) foxes, Patagonian armadillos, eagles, Patagonian owls, etc. It goes through the ranch 'La Perla', in which during season (September- October) the different work- ranch tasks can be observed. Then it gets to Punta Tombo - Firstly the Interpretative Bureau is visited, then we will walk within the protected area of the biggest continental penguins's reserve in the world (in peak season there are about 1.000.000 penguins). You will be able to see Magellanic penguins naturally coexisting with guanacos, Patagonian hares, Patagonian armadillos etc. On the way back we will make a short sightseeing – tour in the city of Trelew (in welsh language means Luis's town), where it is possible to visit as optional the Paleontological museum Egidio Feruglio. Finally we come back to the city of Puerto Madryn.
PENGUINS SEASON: from Mid- September to Mid- April
